5. Achievements and Reflections on Major Concerns; Feedback and Follow-up

Major Concern 1: To Empower Students as Thriving Life-long Learners in the 21st Century

Target 1: To strengthen students' collaborative skills through student-centred learning experiences

Achievements

(i) Cross-curricular theme-based assignments and KLA weeks

- Students were assigned group projects that integrated concepts, skills, and knowledge from two or more KLAs. The cross-curricular projects effectively engaged students in developing a broad knowledge base, requiring them to integrate concepts from multiple disciplines.
- Students' learning was rated highly on the APASO-III survey in terms of learning initiative and readiness to set their own learning objectives, with both junior and senior form students rated in the top quartile (P-Score 85.7). Through the projects, they effectively researched complex cultural topics before lesson time, synthesising information from diverse sources into coherent presentations and reports. Their ability to articulate findings clearly, both in written work and oral presentations, showed remarkable improvement due to the preparation work. Collaboration and interpersonal skills were consistently applied across all projects, especially during group-based research, data collection for the Economics project, and collaborative presentation preparations. The projects also highlighted students' growth in critical thinking, problem-solving, and creativity. For instance, in the Chinese-Chinese History project, students analysed the historical contexts of the Hangzhou learning trip, evaluated the economic significance of cultural industries, and devised creative ways to present complex information (e.g., connecting heritage preservation to modern sustainable development). Information technology skills were applied extensively as students utilised digital tools for research, data analysis, creating multimedia presentations, and potentially managing project logistics. Similarly, the Economics-BAFS collaboration encouraged consideration of cultural assets within global economic frameworks and sustainability contexts, broadening their global perspective. The Putonghua-Science-Mathematics project was a creative collaboration that spanned a broad knowledge base, encompassing Putonghua pronunciations, investigations of natural phenomena in the carbon cycle, data management and presentation, Mathematical estimations, and even comparative philosophies. Last but not least, the English-History class took the art of two-sided argumentative essay writing into the realm of History, where students were prompted to discuss global perspectives on whether the United Nations had done enough to tackle environmental problems, thereby paving the way for students to become well-informed and conscious global citizens.

- The School excelled in designing authentic, interdisciplinary learning experiences that move far beyond textbook knowledge. According to the stakeholder survey, nearly 90% of teachers felt that the School has strategically provided students with diverse learning experiences inside and outside the classroom, taking into consideration their learning diversity. Almost 80% of teachers agreed that the School has appropriately arranged students' learning time to connect their learning inside and outside of the classroom. The various cross-curricular-related and KLA-weeks-related study trips have exemplified this. The Chinese Cultural Heritage Exploration Trips for S.4 and S.5 students in November immersed students in China's historical and cultural heartland, requiring them to investigate tangible heritage and analyse its impact on modern lifestyles and economies through primary research and structured reporting. The Business Environment in the Greater Bay Area (with a focus on Huizhou) Trip for S.4 students in April was equally inspirational. Students engaged directly with complex economic realities – analysing national policies, conducting comparative cost assessments, collecting socioeconomic data, interviewing businesses, and even applying theoretical economic models to make predictions of regional impacts on Hong Kong. Similarly, as part of the featured activities in PSHE Week, the History Heritage Tour in Pingshan in the New Territories prompted students to explore local cultural conservation. This Pingshan Heritage Trail for S.2 students provided crucial local context, fostering appreciation for Hong Kong's unique cultural layers alongside national and regional perspectives. This triad of experiences – local, national, and regional – created a rich learning environment for students.
- The School leveraged these study trips as powerful catalysts for holistic development. By immersing students in authentic cultural and economic contexts and structuring these experiences around challenging, interdisciplinary projects requiring research, analysis, collaboration, and creative output, the School successfully fostered not only subject-specific mastery but also critical thinking, problem-solving, self-management, and communication skills essential for lifelong learning and engaged citizenship in a complex world.
- The School demonstrated strong leadership in fostering continuous improvement and holistic development through KLA Weeks initiatives, which took place at various times throughout the school year. This is reflected in the teachers' responses to the stakeholder survey. 87.3% of teachers agreed that the School has set appropriate development priorities to facilitate students' whole-person development as well as clear targets in accordance with these priorities. In addition, over 80% of students were very positive about the experiential learning and agreed that the Chinese Cultural Week had sparked their interest in learning more about Chinese History and culture. By treating the Cultural Week as a prototype for growth, the School modelled the very ethos of lifelong learning it sought to instil.

- This school year's two-phase STEAM Fair vividly demonstrated the School's commitment to enriching student learning experiences beyond the traditional curriculum. Phase One transformed the hall into a dynamic showcase of outstanding student achievements across diverse STEAM disciplines, where our students confidently presented award-winning projects to external guests and junior peers. Exhibits ranged from competitive chemistry and biology research to mathematics, robotics, student-designed mobile apps, AI-driven cars, and laser engraving, highlighting the global and interdisciplinary nature of the learning experience. Phase Two further expanded opportunities by hosting an inter-school AI Innovation Contest at our school. Junior form students also enjoyed immersive AR technology and practical applications through a meaningful soft meal activity. Collectively, the STEAM Fair proved to be an enjoyable and educational platform for students to showcase their achievements and explore related fields further, as 83% of students were satisfied with all the learning activities, and 82% of students expressed that they had learned more about technological development around the world.
- Introducing a new dimension to language enrichment, this year's inaugural English-Putonghua Weeks significantly broadened students' learning experiences beyond the traditional English Week. This initiative fostered holistic development by creating diverse opportunities for practical language application, cultural appreciation, and collaborative learning. The Trilingual and Biliterate Quiz Contest successfully enhanced the atmosphere of learning and engagement among participants and the audience. The involvement of former students as question setters and MCs added a personal touch that resonated well with both the contestants and the floor audience. The feedback received from students was overwhelmingly positive. They appreciated the relevance of the questions to their personal experiences, pop culture and current affairs, stating that it made the learning process feel more meaningful. Participants interviewed noted that the quiz contest was a "fun-filled yet meaningful learning experience" that extended beyond the traditional classroom setting. Students reported an increased confidence in their language skills and cultural understanding, attributing this improvement to the quiz format and the engaging nature of the questions. During English-Putonghua Speaking Days, the majority of S.1 and S.2 students engaged directly with non-language teachers, thereby boosting their confidence in real-world communication. Form-based activities, such as the S.1 and S.2 Book Report Competitions and the S.3 Battle of the Books competition, promoted teamwork, critical thinking, and linguistic awareness. Furthermore, drama appreciation and dedicated reading and culture workshops were organised to deepen literary engagement, nurture critical analysis skills, and broaden cultural understanding. According to the activity surveys, over 80% of students agreed that the activities beyond the classroom offered them extra chances to develop themselves into more confident English language learners.

(ii) Deepening pedagogical impact through student-centred learning approach and external learning community

- With the coordination of the Pedagogy Committee, five class demonstration sessions were conducted to showcase how different KLAs brought out the best learning practices in students through a student-centred learning approach. According to a stakeholder survey, 66.1% of students expressed that teachers' questions inspired them throughout their learning process, and 64.9% felt that teachers allowed them to explore a variety of topics. In a lesson from S.4 Chemistry on investigating the properties of dilute hydrochloric acid, students took ownership of their lab tests. The learning process significantly developed their critical thinking, scientific investigation skills, and ability to work independently. S.2 students in a Geography Pedagogy lesson, on the other hand, conducted research on and learned about the historical background and mechanism of Chinese hybrid rice. They had an interesting assignment to creatively design their own hybrid rice, choosing their own nutrients and ingredients, which fostered creativity and problem-solving skills. Apart from students' creativity in learning, teachers' readiness to incorporate A.I. in lesson design was also evident in an S.1 Chinese Pedagogy lesson, where they learned about expository techniques through practical examples and real-life commercials, and in turn, designed their own advertisements, effectively applying communication skills and creative thinking. In a computer literacy Pedagogy lesson demonstration with S.3 students, a student-centred approach was demonstrated through the building of a translator app. Students had the opportunity to design and personalise this mobile app, which could be used practically, thereby developing their technological literacy and innovative problem-solving abilities. The last lesson demonstration of the school year was conducted by the Mathematics department, where S.4 students learned about the properties of circles using interactive apps and carefully designed diagram aids created by subject teachers. As such, learning diversity was catered for as students manoeuvred at their own pace and learning progress was constantly assessed and reaffirmed, promoting self-directed learning skills.
- The pedagogy lesson observation practice is a core component of our school's ongoing commitment to enriching students' learning experiences and promoting holistic development and lifelong learning. Such a structured process ensures continual refinement of student-centred approaches. Subject teachers from other disciplines observed each pedagogy lesson. The feedback collected provided invaluable suggestions, insights, and constructive comments on the lesson's effectiveness in fostering deep engagement and diverse learning skills. In the year-end evaluation, the comments served as a critical step in refining teachers' practice to better nurture students' intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, and capacity for independent learning. To maximise the impact, the Pedagogy Committee summarised the highlights and key strategies of each lesson in staff meetings and invited teachers to share their insights further, disseminating successful techniques that actively cultivate students' lifelong learning dispositions and multifaceted development across the School. As such, learning aims of knowledge mastery and learning motivation rated positively in our school (P-Score 85.7) on APASO.

- Committing to continuous professional development in teaching and learning, the School implemented new measures this year to systematically enhance the effectiveness of its subject panels. A cornerstone initiative involved nominating experienced teachers within each subject to spearhead the learning and teaching of specific topics by sharing insights into teaching challenges, pedagogical implications, and effective strategies with less experienced colleagues. Departments, including Chinese, CS, English, ICT, and Mathematics, walked the extra mile to provide teaching footage in short videos for future reference. Critically, resources and collective wisdom generated were archived and shared, creating a sustainable knowledge repository to support ongoing teacher growth and ensure best practices are readily accessible.
- Complementing robust internal collaboration, the School has actively fostered valuable professional exchanges with external partners. The Chinese Department partnered with Belilios Public School and Queen's College in a learning circle, through which subject teachers exchanged pedagogical ideas and conducted professional sharings pinpointing the teaching and learning of S.4 argumentative essay writing. Besides Chinese, Two Mathematics teachers participated extensively in an EDB learning circle focused on mathematical modelling. Throughout the year, they engaged in workshops and professional dialogues with peers from other schools. Facilitated by EDB personnel, they observed lessons externally and hosted an open lesson at our School, which received highly positive feedback and stimulated fruitful post-lesson discussion. Furthermore, the STEAM Education Committee actively contributed to a Government Secondary Schools Learning Circle comprising 18 member schools, centred on sustainable development in AI education. This involved regular meetings, workshops, and the use of an online platform for resource sharing and conferencing. A highlight was the School's hosting of a well-attended AI innovation contest, welcoming participating students and staff from other network schools.
- Additionally, the English Department engaged in a school-based support programme supported by Hong Kong Polytechnic University, where experts collaborated with the English teachers to develop innovative LAC teaching materials for humanities subjects in our School. Such collaboration has aimed to enhance student motivation and proficiency in using English effectively across PSHE subjects. The programme also facilitated diverse student-centred learning activities, including competitions and game booths, explicitly designed to foster lifelong learning habits.

- These multidimensional initiatives collectively underscored the School's proactive performance in leading the professional team towards continuous improvement. The leadership of the subject panel and teachers' professional development are rated positively by teachers in the stakeholder survey (with scores of 4.4 and 4.0, respectively). By establishing structured internal mentorship and cultivating rich external partnerships, the School empowered its teachers with enhanced skills and resources. This investment directly translated into enriched classroom experiences, promoting students' holistic development through interdisciplinary learning and fostering the critical thinking, creativity, and self-directed engagement essential for lifelong learning.

Reflections

- Building upon our theme of Environment, teaching colleagues excelled in designing multifaceted projects that seamlessly integrated diverse academic disciplines. According to stakeholder survey responses from teachers and students, both rated 3.7 on students' learning inside and outside of the classroom setting. Feedback from teachers showed that these assignments enabled students to recognise tangible connections between subjects while applying theoretical knowledge to environment-related topics. This initiative was further strengthened through KLA weeks that reinforced the environmental focus, creating a cohesive learning atmosphere that extended beyond traditional classrooms. Through carefully designed student-centred activities and experiential learning opportunities, we observed enhanced engagement as students discovered more meaningful applications for their studies. With another annual theme planned for the coming year, we anticipate expanding these student-centred approaches through an even wider variety of pedagogical initiatives and collaborative projects.
- One notable area of improvement suggested by APASO is the teaching of instructions and support for junior forms (Q-Score 85). This prompted the School's commitment to advancing teaching excellence, as manifested through the Pedagogy Committee's coordination of professional lesson demonstrations, particularly for the junior forms. These structured exchanges provided vital platforms for pedagogical dialogue, particularly focusing on refining student-centred methodologies and cultivating collaborative competencies. These efforts directly support our three-year major concern objective: nurturing students to develop the skills necessary for lifelong learning. Additionally, we conducted targeted professional sharing sessions within individual subject panels to promote good teaching practices and strategies. As this initiative has been launched this year, we recognise opportunities to enhance its reach next year—especially for less experienced subject teachers—through developing supplementary resources, such as concise instructional videos that capture exemplary practices. Our vision remains to systematically preserve, refine, and redeploy our collective pedagogical wisdom, creating an enduring culture of teaching excellence.

- Participation in external learning communities yielded particularly valuable professional insights this year. Our involvement in an EDB-facilitated mathematical modelling learning circle, collaborating with multiple partner schools, provided exceptional opportunities for the co-development of teaching approaches. This network featured reciprocal lesson observations and sharing sessions enriched by mainland Chinese specialists in mathematical modelling teaching as well as EDB personnel. A notable highlight was our School's selection as one of only two institutions invited to the learning circle to share our experience and exhibit students' work at the EDB Teacher Professional Development showcase. The Mathematics department and the STEAM Education Committee's participation have demonstrably broadened instructional perspectives and inspired new ideas for facilitating enriched student learning experiences. We look forward to the participation of other subjects in these external professional networks in the upcoming academic year to further enhance our teaching practices.

Target 2: To enhance students' communication and reading competence

Achievements

(i) Manipulation of technology in enhancing writing and speaking competence

- The strategic integration of AI applications significantly advanced students' core communication competencies. For S.5 and S.6 English, an AI-speaking app provided individualised practice in fluency and pronunciation, enabling measurable progress in oral expression. S.6 students also utilised an AI writing tool for Chinese composition, refining structural coherence and vocabulary precision, while S.4 English learners employed a similar AI platform for writing, enhancing grammatical accuracy and argumentative clarity. Collectively, many students benefited from these technologies, especially S.6 students who required immediate feedback on their learning performances. Feedback from S.6 students was overwhelmingly positive, as they enjoyed the app's instant and granular feedback, which helped identify their major weaknesses in both language speaking and writing. S.4 users also reported that the tool highlighted specific strengths and weaknesses in their writing, particularly in refining their word choices and enhancing their awareness of audience and tone. The tool was particularly beneficial for developing persuasive and engaging writing.

From the teachers' perspective, the tool allowed teachers to gain insights into common writing problems among students, saving time on individual queries and enabling them to focus on broader instructional strategies

- By adopting and experimenting with AI-driven speaking and writing tools across some forms, the School transformed traditional language practice into dynamic, personalised learning experiences. The AI speaking app offered on-demand feedback, fostering self-directed improvement beyond classroom hours. Similarly, the AI writing app supports in S.6 Chinese and S.4 English, providing instant analytical critiques. In particular, some S.4 students expressed that while the tool provided valuable feedback, students may struggle with DSE-styled writing contexts or complex arguments, potentially leading to oversights in more advanced writing. Students then have learned not to become overly reliant on the tool; instead, they should focus on the development of their independent writing skills. The encouragement of AI use has demonstrated the School's effort to promote lifelong learning by equipping our students to become 21st-century learners.
- The School demonstrated proactive leadership in pedagogical innovation through its adoption of these AI language tools, as it saw every opportunity to empower staff to elevate instructional quality and, more importantly, students' self-directed learning capacity. As writing and speaking are equally essential to presentation and communication tasks in non-language subjects, elements of AI assistance were also evident in some classroom learning tasks, such as Pedagogy lesson demonstrations, where AI provided excellent aids in brainstorming and offered helpful advice to students to complete the tasks. According to surveys, students spend a significant amount of time using information technology for actual learning (Q-Score 116). The manipulation of such technology to suit the learning tasks continues to foster a vibrant culture that promotes holistic development and lifelong learning for students.

(ii) Enhancing students' reading competence

- Overall, surveys indicate that students are fairly enthusiastic about reading (P-Score 80.7). For S.1 and S.2 students, English book report competitions were organised to consolidate students' learning experiences with English readers. Students' good works were recorded for peer sharing and learning. Some were also exhibited on display boards and other publications. The Promotion of Reading Committee organised several form-based activities in collaboration with the Library Committee and the English Society. S.1 students participated in the SkiMaster English Newspaper Speed Reading Competition. Students were expected to find relevant information from an article within the time limit and demonstrate excellent English reading and listening skills. S.1 pair of reading sessions was also arranged during the reading period. Senior form students coached S.1 students on book sharing and offered hints on elaborating ideas. During English Week, S.4 students also participated in a reading crossover culture workshop, which promoted language arts and cultural awareness. The Battle of the Books competition was also held to deepen S.3 students' reading comprehension and foster critical thinking and analysis. This competition was extended beyond our school campus to an external Battle of the Books competition, where students from S.1 and S.2 competed against other schools.

- In terms of reading-related collaborations, this year highlights an exciting partnership between VA and the two language departments for S.1 students. S.1 students were inspired to produce traditional ink paintings of landscapes and scenes based on Chinese readings, as well as comical drawings of characters inspired by stories from English readings.
- The promotion of reading is not confined only to regular classroom settings or academic fields. The School has continued to strive for a stronger reading atmosphere for all students as a whole. Reading awards were presented by the Principal and Assistant Principals to boost reading incentives. Working with King's Morning Committee, junior form students presented regular reading-sharing sessions of Chinese and English books in morning assemblies and reading periods. Our Principal, assistant Principals, teachers, and even external guest speakers, including a principal from another school, were also invited to share about books they had recently read and recommended.
- Furthermore, the School encouraged diverse reading formats beyond traditional physical books, as 21st-century learners engage with reading through a variety of media and forms — from digital texts to magazines. Positive progress is shown in the survey, as 69.6% of students rated their level of intrinsic enjoyment derived from reading for leisure and self-improvement as high. Creating a whole-school approach to developing an inclusive reading culture helped expand students' literary exposure as a means of holistic education and lifelong learning.
- The School has embraced important measures to align non-language subjects' commitments as collective efforts to develop students into lifelong readers and equip them with good reading skills. Reading strategies were rated highly in APASO (P-Score 85.7). This year, the School participated in a school-based support programme for ELA (English Language Arts) and LAC (Language Across Curriculum) in partnership with the Polytechnic University of Hong Kong. This initiative provided on-site teacher training and co-designed discipline-specific literacy materials, particularly in S.1 History and Geography pedagogies. Feedback from teachers has shown that the initiative can increase students' motivation to learn through the English language medium and provide the best opportunity possible for students to learn the language effectively and become proficient in it.

- LAC also featured the concerted efforts across all KLAs to create tailored reading materials and reading-related assignments. These assignments took various forms, ranging from traditional book reports to cartoon illustrations that explained mathematical concepts. Readings in different KLAs encompassed a wide range of topics, including intangible cultural heritage, historical events, and technological achievements of our nation, the Belt and Road Initiative, and even illustrations of technical visual art terminologies.

Reflections

- This year marked the School's first trial in adopting AI apps specifically designed to enhance students' language competencies. For the Chinese writing app, as the submissions were managed exclusively through teachers' accounts, there was significant inconvenience for teachers. Students submitted their work to teachers, who then uploaded it into the app for processing. When we eventually roll out student accounts, such a change would alleviate much of the technical burden on teachers. Additionally, the manual provision of marking schemes and rubrics can enhance the accuracy of grading, as some teachers noted that the predictability of the app-generated marking results was occasionally low. This is expected to improve over time as the database continues to expand with the participation of other schools.
- Regarding the English writing app, its larger pool of data appears to ensure greater stability in grading and marking students' work. The user interface is also intuitive and easy to use. Meanwhile, the adoption of the English-speaking app was a significant highlight this year. Despite some initial technical challenges, the speaking practice became quite smooth over time, and the grading and marking proved to be highly useful. These AI tools are anticipated to become even more effective and accurate as their scope expands, their databases grow, and newer versions are rolled out.
- From a learning perspective, these AI applications have been highly beneficial to students, as they save significant time by providing instant feedback and comprehensive reports. Students no longer need to wait for teachers to mark their papers. Despite occasional inconsistencies in grading, many students found the reports and feedback from the writing apps to be helpful, particularly those with learning difficulties. The apps offered valuable suggestions to refine their essays in areas such as rhetorical richness, structural coherence, content depth, organisation, and language accuracy. The speaking app, on the other hand, has proven to be an excellent exam simulation tool, enabling students to practice at their convenience. Teachers noted that these AI tools were beneficial for S.6 students, who require frequent practice, even during study leave periods. To maximise the benefits next year, it is recommended that students be taught how to better utilise the feedback and reports provided by these apps. Additionally, expanding their formal use to include more students should be considered.

- Different form-based activities were arranged, and the atmosphere of mass reading can definitely foster students' reading habits. The S.1-S.2 book report competitions provided students with opportunities to transfer and apply the knowledge they had gained from both language and subject studies. These competitions facilitated the cross-disciplinary application of skills and knowledge, significantly enriching students' learning experiences. According to teachers' observations and students' feedback, both the book report competitions and the internal and external Battle of the Books competitions were successful in terms of student participation and pedagogical outcomes. Students' achievements were publicly recognised through award-giving and book-sharing opportunities, which further motivated them and strengthened their reading incentives. These initiatives will continue to be a cornerstone in fostering a stronger reading culture. To ignite junior secondary students' interest in diverse reading materials and foster good reading habits, we can implement various reading-sharing programmes during our weekly 30-minute reading periods. One idea is a "Book Buddy" system, where students share and discuss the plots and characters of the books they have read with the whole form, encouraging more peer interactions and recommendations. Additionally, an "eReading Roundtable" could be organised, where students present their favourite digital reading materials and share reviews, engaging tech-savvy students and expanding their reading horizons.
- Reading across the curriculum is an integral part of a school-wide effort to enhance students' reading competence. Teachers' observations and students' feedback indicate that reading assignments have sparked greater interest in subject knowledge compared to conventional textbooks, resulting in higher levels of satisfaction with reading. However, it is apparent that many students have yet to develop a well-established reading habit, which limits their ability to comprehend learning materials, particularly in English-medium instruction (EMI) subjects. Therefore, we must continue to explore strategies to address this issue. Emphasising a variety of reading modes and media may be an effective approach moving forward.

Feedback and Follow-up

- To further enhance student-centred learning within and beyond the classroom, it is suggested that cross-curricular cooperation and activities arranged in theme-focused KLA weeks could be beneficial in broadening students' horizons and arousing their interest in learning. With the addition of artificial intelligence elements in teaching and learning, the pedagogical development of teachers is also expected to be fostered through professional exchanges, including the more active involvement of senior teachers, external learning communities, and open lessons.

- To continuously improve students' reading competence and cultivate their reading habits, various initiatives incorporating further technology manipulation are to be incorporated into daily learning tasks and assignments.

Major Concern 2: To Entrench Values Education and Nurture Students to Proactively Meet the Challenges of the New Era

Target 1: To strive to deepen the impact of Values Education and National Education

I. To cultivate positive attitudes in line with the theme of the school year 'Benevolence'

II. To develop National Identity through diverse national education programmes

Achievements

- Students have benefited from initiatives promoting positive attitudes in line with this year's theme of 'Benevolence.' The School has integrated key values into various subject curricula and Form Periods, while class-based activities have strengthened friendships and created a positive atmosphere, so as to fulfil the 4Rs principle launched by the EDB. Experiential learning through social service with charities has enriched their experiences, complemented by events like "Benevolence Week" and relevant workshops. Simultaneously, the School fosters National Identity through programmes such as the Constitution and Basic Law Student Ambassadors Training Scheme and cross-curricular projects. Thematic exchange activities with the mainland and various competitions and workshops further encourage students to safeguard national security on their own accord.
- In the area of priority values and attitudes, the integration of priority values, such as benevolence, into various subject curricula has been effectively implemented. Form teachers from each form have organised different Form-based "Benevolence" activities to enhance benevolence and foster love and care among students in each class. The Service Education Committee collaborated with NGOs, such as the Boys' and Girls' Clubs Association, to organise a series of service education training sessions and social service activities for all S.1 to S.5 students. Benevolence Week was organised to further deepen students' understanding of benevolence towards others, animals, and society. Additionally, activities such as the thematic inter-class board display competition, Benevolence Slogan design Competition, Benevolence Comic-drawing Competition, and Benevolence Writing Competition were held to promote benevolence. According to the Stakeholder Surveys (SHS), the item with the highest mean score of 4.0 is "I help my classmates, and we get along well." Furthermore, the APASO-III assessment reveals that the Q-value and P-value for the item "Frequency of voluntary service" are 116 and 85.7, respectively, and for “Emotional conditions (no negative feelings) are 116 and 85.7, significantly surpassing the average norms in Hong Kong. These findings indicate that through increased class-based and experiential learning activities, students are developing stronger relationships with one another and are more eager to offer assistance to others. This positive atmosphere reflects a successful effort to create a supportive and collaborative environment within the school.

- In the area of national and global identity, our School successfully recruited thirty Constitution and Basic Law Student Ambassadors in September 2024. Their responsibilities and activities focus on offering students a diverse range of comprehensive learning and training opportunities to cultivate a proactive interest in national identity and Hong Kong social issues. Besides, there were a total of seven thematic mainland exchange tours this year, benefiting students from all forms. According to the KPM report, participation in mainland tours among students from S.4 to S.5 is 100% and 98.4 % for S.3 students (KPM 8.3). Through the mainland tours, students gained a deeper understanding of our country's rich history, culture, national conditions, and achievements, students' sense of national identity and belonging has been successfully enhanced after the trips. Also, every week, our School holds a national flag-raising ceremony and speeches under the national flag, which has become an integral part of our campus life. This academic year, the flag-raising ceremony includes singing the national anthem led by various student leadership teams and all classes, allowing all students to participate more actively in the ceremony. Another encouraging finding from the APASO-III assessment is that students have shown remarkable positive outcomes in the areas of "national identity" and "honesty/moral awareness", both of which received high scores of 4. These indicate that essential values and attitudes related to national and global identity are not only well-established but also actively promoted among our students. They are developing a solid understanding of their roles as responsible citizens, both locally and globally. By nurturing these positive affective and social outcomes, we can further encourage students to safeguard national security of their own accord.
- The School has arranged for students to participate in 30 national flag-raising ceremonies, accompanied by the playing and singing of the national anthem, on key dates specified in the “National Education – Event Planning Calendar” of the EDB and other school key dates, surpassing the reference number of 21 times. Obviously, the School aimed to provide sufficient opportunities for students across all forms to participate in national education activities. The item of “In Percentage of students responsible for the national flag raising ceremony or those participating in relevant training” in KPM 8.2 was 100% in both junior and senior forms. In addition, the percentage of students participating in territory-wide inter-school competitions related to national education was 100% (KPM 21.1 & 21.2). This indicates that our students have actively taken part in national education-related competitions and relevant training. Our teachers have made significant efforts to promote various national education competitions and provide training throughout the year.
- The progress in fostering a positive atmosphere in the School is noteworthy, with the "Parents' Perception of School Climate" receiving a score of 4.2 in KPM 14.3. Also, according to the SHS, 86.6% of the parents agreed that “The school can help my children develop good character”. Also, students' perception of "Support for Student" was good with a score of 3.8 (KPM 13.2), which is higher than the average norm in Hong Kong. The surveys' results indicate that, from the students' and parents' perspectives, the School environment is both positive and welcoming. To provide students with opportunities to go beyond the classroom and engage with the culture and development of the mainland, the School has utilised various funding sources, including the KC Education Fund, Life-wide Learning Grant, and a One-off Grant for the Promotion of Chinese Culture Immersion Activities. The strategic utilisation of funds and arrangements has facilitated a range of diverse and enriching activities, such as mainland tours, talks, workshops, and social service projects. As a result, students have greatly benefited from the multifaceted learning experiences.

- The School has demonstrated strong leadership in fostering teachers' continuous professional development, as evidenced by the high scores rated by teachers in the Stakeholder Survey. Regarding training in national education, a remarkable 100% participation rate of teachers in external or on-site professional development activities themed on national education (KPM 5.2) has been achieved. This commitment to professional growth not only enhanced teachers' skills but also enriched the educational environment for students. By prioritising ongoing training and collaboration, the School has effectively promoted holistic development and lifelong learning, ensuring that both teachers and students thrive in a supportive and dynamic atmosphere.

Reflections

- This academic year has highlighted the School's strong commitment in promoting positive values and a sense of national identity among students. Through initiatives centered on the theme of 'Benevolence', students have engaged in various activities that promote kindness and supportive relationships. The successful implementation of experiential learning and community service has enriched their educational experiences.
- The School's efforts to enhance national identity through programmes like the Constitution and Basic Law Student Ambassadors Training Scheme have proven effective, with full participation from relevant student groups. Regular flag-raising ceremonies and active student involvement have further solidified their connection to national pride.

Target 2: To nurture students' abilities to use information ethically, responsibly, and effectively

To develop students' critical media and information literacy skills, enabling them to evaluate information sources ethically and use information responsibly and effectively

Achievements

- The School has enhanced students' critical media and information literacy through integrated lessons in Form Teacher Periods, emphasising the balance of new media benefits and online risks through lesson materials. Students learned about digital footprints and the importance of safeguarding personal information to prevent privacy violations. An average score of 3.6 out of 4 on the school-based survey conducted after the information literacy lessons indicated that students understood their responsibilities as internet users.
- Additionally, fifteen out of eighteen subject departments have incorporated information literacy into their curricula. Also, the survey results indicate that more than 90% of students agreed that they can “use information ethically, effectively and responsibly” and are “able to identify the authenticity of information and locate, access relevant information using technology.” These highlight the effectiveness of our information literacy initiatives. Students are also confident in using information ethically, effectively, and responsibly.
- An Information Literacy Ambassador Training Course, themed "Technology Crime Prevention and Cyber Security," has also been designed for S.1 to S.4 students. Fourteen information literacy leaders have been equipped with essential knowledge to promote cybersecurity awareness and prevent technology-related crimes within the school community. Students have gained insights into safe internet practices, including how to protect personal information and recognise phishing attempts.
- Tips on information literacy, focusing on the "Smart Use of Information Technology", were disseminated via the school's ePlatform and digital signage, further raising awareness of responsible information use and cybersecurity issues within the school community. This initiative has successfully attracted students to engage with the content at various times.

Reflections

- According to the APASO-III assessment, the Q-Value and P-Value related to the use of information technology for non-leisure activities were significantly below the averages observed in Hong Kong schools. Approximately 46% of students report that they typically spend no more than three hours each day using digital media and devices for leisure activities. In contrast, around 57% of students exceed this three-hour threshold on weekends. Students were found to spend more time using digital media and devices during weekends in general. Therefore, the School will continue to emphasise the importance of utilising information technology tools and other resources effectively, ethically, and responsibly.

- The considerable amount of time students spend online underscores the critical need to cultivate strong information literacy skills, so as to prevent the negative impacts arising from the misuse or improper use of technology. The skills include the ability to identify, locate, and evaluate information, as well as to use information responsibly and effectively. Fostering these skills is crucial for enabling students to navigate the digital landscape responsibly and maximise the resources available to them, thereby enhancing their overall learning experience.

Feedback and Follow-up

- To strive to deepen the impact of Values Education and National Education, we have made significant strides in creating a nurturing environment that supports students' personal growth this year. In the coming year, we will continuously reinforce students' positive values, further expanding their sense of benevolence into unity. As we are going to celebrate our School's 100th anniversary, we seek to strengthen the connections between students. Continued emphasis on these areas, along with further initiatives to enhance student engagement and community involvement, will yield even more positive results. It would be beneficial to maintain regular assessments and feedback mechanisms to ensure that these efforts remain effective and responsive to student needs.
- The results from the APASO-III assessment reveal that there is room for developing students' critical media and information literacy skills, so that they can evaluate information sources ethically and use information responsibly and effectively. To address this need, we will focus on enhancing our curriculum over the next year by incorporating comprehensive literacy skills. This includes offering targeted workshops/ talks that teach students how to critically evaluate online sources, which is essential for developing good internet habits and promoting responsible use of digital resources. By emphasising these skills, we aim to empower our students to navigate the vast amount of information available online more effectively and make informed decisions. It is our commitment to foster a culture of information literacy so as to prepare students to become responsible digital citizens in an increasingly interconnected world.

7. Support for Student Development

The School reaffirms its commitment to a Whole-School Approach in nurturing students' personal growth and moral character. Guided by our mission to cultivate a caring, respectful, and inclusive learning environment, we strive to empower every student to realise their potential and live a purposeful and meaningful life. Throughout the year, our dedicated student development committees have worked in close collaboration to design and implement an extensive range of programmes that address the diverse developmental needs, interests, and aspirations of our students. These initiatives aim not only to support students' holistic development but also to strengthen their sense of responsibility, empathy, and resilience in facing the challenges of a changing world.

In alignment with our Major Concern II — “To Entrench Values Education and Nurture Students to Proactively Meet the Challenges of the New Era” — the School continues to place a strong emphasis on Values Education as the cornerstone of whole-person development. Anchored in the twelve core values — Perseverance, Respect for Others, Responsibility, National Identity, Commitment, Integrity, Benevolence, Law-abidingness, Empathy, Diligence, Unity, and Filial Piety — our Values Education Curriculum provides a structured and coherent framework for nurturing students' moral discernment and positive attitudes. Implemented systematically during the Form Teacher Period across all levels, the curriculum integrates classroom learning with reflection and experiential activities to help students internalise and practise these core values in everyday life.

This year, the School adopted “Benevolence” as the overarching theme of Values Education. A wide array of experiential and participatory activities was launched to enable students to appreciate the meaning of compassion and kindness in action. Signature programmes included the Thematic Board Design Competition, Model Student Election, Slogan and Comic Design Competitions, ICAC Drama Performance, School Cleaning Campaign, Experiential Workshop on Empathy, Benevolence Week, and My Pledge of Acts. Complementing these, civic and moral awareness were further enhanced through the Talk on Law, the Civic Ambassador Training Programme, and the World Vision “Victims of War” Experiential Activity. To deepen students' understanding of national identity and security, the School also organised the Opening Ceremony of the National Security Education Day and participated in the Territory-wide Inter-school National Security Knowledge Challenge (2024/25) – English Category for Non-Chinese Speaking Students.

The School continues to attach great importance to National Education as an integral component of whole-person development. Through a structured and multifaceted approach, we aim to deepen students' understanding of the nation's history, culture, and development while nurturing in them a strong sense of national identity, civic pride, and social responsibility.

Our weekly flag-raising ceremonies serve as a vital platform for fostering patriotism and civic awareness among students. This year, a new initiative — the National Anthem Leading Segment — was introduced, with members of the School's leadership teams and class representatives taking turns leading the singing of the national anthem. This meaningful addition has strengthened students' sense of participation and unity, allowing them to demonstrate respect and commitment through active engagement. During each ceremony, representatives from different classes also deliver "Speeches under the National Flag", reflecting on themes related to national development, culture, and citizenship. The inter-class "Speech under the National Flag" Competition has continued to receive enthusiastic participation, providing an invaluable platform for students to articulate their insights and enhance their confidence in public speaking.

To further broaden students' constitutional and civic perspectives, the School participated in the Constitution and Basic Law Student Ambassadors Training Scheme, which aims to cultivate students' understanding of Hong Kong's constitutional order and reinforce their awareness of the Constitution, Basic Law, and National Security Education. Through workshops, training sessions, and promotional activities, student ambassadors have taken an active role in promoting these core values among their peers, fostering a culture of respect for the rule of law and civic responsibility on campus.

In addition, subject departments across Key Learning Areas (KLAs) have continued to integrate elements of National Education into their curriculum planning and learning activities, ensuring that patriotic values are embedded across disciplines. Through these collective and sustained efforts, the School remains dedicated to nurturing students who are confident, law-abiding, and rooted in Chinese culture — young Kingsians who love their country and city, and who will contribute meaningfully to the community with wisdom, diligence, and integrity.

In alignment with the School's vision of nurturing the potential of every learner, the Gifted Education Committee, in close collaboration with various Key Learning Areas (KLAs), has continued to implement a structured and forward-looking framework to identify and cultivate students' diverse talents. The initiative aims to inspire students to explore their strengths, pursue their interests, and strive for excellence through a range of engaging and challenging programmes. The positive feedback from participants reflects the success of these endeavours in deepening students' enthusiasm for learning and strengthening their sense of self-efficacy.

To cater to the varying domains of giftedness, the School offers a series of specialised programmes in areas such as Science Enrichment and Leadership Development. These initiatives are designed not only to enhance students' academic abilities but also to foster creativity, collaboration, and critical thinking. Signature events such as STEAM Week and King's Morning provide authentic platforms for students to showcase their achievements and share their learning experiences with peers, thereby cultivating a vibrant school culture that celebrates excellence and perseverance.

The success of these programmes has also been reinforced by the supportive partnership with parents. Through their active engagement and encouragement, parents have made significant contributions to creating a nurturing environment where gifted students can thrive. In addition, workshops and seminars on personalised learning and talent development have equipped students with practical strategies to extend their learning beyond the classroom, promoting self-directed growth and lifelong curiosity.

In alignment with the School's commitment to inclusivity and cultural integration, we remain dedicated to supporting Non-Chinese Speaking (NCS) students and helping them develop a deeper understanding of the Chinese language and culture. To achieve this, the School has developed customised curricula for Chinese Language, Chinese History, and Life and Society, tailored to meet the diverse learning needs and backgrounds of our students. With the support of additional funding from the Education Bureau (EDB), appropriate teaching materials and supplementary lessons are provided to enhance learning effectiveness. Through this comprehensive approach, the School strives to enable NCS students to acquire language proficiency, appreciate Chinese heritage, and actively participate in the broader school community.

The School is deeply committed to fostering students' personal growth and emotional well-being through a caring and supportive environment. Our Counselling Team, working closely with teachers, school social workers, and professionals from the Student Mental Health Support Scheme, continues to deliver a comprehensive range of services to address the developmental needs of students.

Special attention was devoted to supporting new students' adaptation to secondary school life. Counselling teachers and social workers conducted structured interviews with all students, with a particular focus on S.1 newcomers, to identify early adjustment challenges. The Fig Boy Peer Counselling Scheme mobilised senior students to offer sustained peer support, helping new students integrate smoothly into the school community. To address emotional well-being, the School proactively monitored students' stress levels and provided timely interventions for those at risk.

Through a whole-school approach, teachers were encouraged to observe and respond to students' emotional needs, thereby cultivating a school climate of gratitude, resilience, and positivity. The School's participation in the Health-in-Mind Programme, funded by MINDSET and implemented in collaboration with the Hospital Authority, further enhanced awareness of mental health. Students engaged in experiential workshops, peer education, and service projects promoting inclusion and empathy, reinforcing a culture of respect and compassion.

The 4Rs Mental Wellness Programme, funded by the Life-wide Learning Grant, continued to engage students from S.1 to S.6 in structured Form Periods under the themes of Rest, Relaxation, Relationship and Resilience. This initiative was enriched by experiential learning outings and workshops that deepened emotional literacy and interpersonal competence. Complementary programmes funded by the One-off Grant for Mental Health at School included activities on personality development, failure education, and sports-based workshops such as boxing and kin-ball to promote physical and emotional balance. Creative outlets like Digital Illustration, Culinary Arts, and Scented Candle Making further provided opportunities for self-expression and relaxation.

Recognising the crucial role of parents, the Counselling Team implemented a comprehensive Parent Education Programme under the One-off Grant on Parent Education (Secondary). Talks and workshops were designed for parents at different student levels, focusing on adolescent development, growth mindset, and family communication. The highlight of the year, the Homecoming Day Talk — “Unravelling the Mental Health Needs of Adolescents”, attracted wide participation and strengthened home-school collaboration.

Through the effective use of the Learning Support Grant and the Grant for Supporting NCS SEN, the Special Educational Needs Coordinator (SENCO) and her team worked closely with teachers, the Educational Psychologist (EP), and members of the Counselling Team to deliver tiered and individualized support. The School also collaborated with external service providers and medical professionals from the School Mental Health Support Scheme (SMHSS) to provide integrated academic and emotional support for students in need.

To enhance social development, Social Skills Workshops were conducted for students with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD), offering authentic opportunities to apply learned communication strategies. Speech therapy and occupational therapy services were also arranged to address language and sensory-motor needs. Academic workshops were organised to strengthen study habits and address learning barriers. Looking ahead, the School will continue to implement the AIM Project under the Education Bureau to further enhance academic, social, and emotional development for students with ASD.

The Life Planning Education and Career Guidance Committee continues to uphold its mission of providing comprehensive, equitable, and progressive guidance to all students, irrespective of ability, interests, or academic pathways. To this end, a well-structured career education curriculum is embedded across S.1 to S.6 through the Form Teacher Period, with clear developmental objectives in the three pillars of life planning: self-understanding and personal development, career exploration, and career planning and management. The curriculum is designed to cultivate students’ accountability for their own planning and decision-making, while equipping them with reliable information and reflective tools for informed choices.

At S.1, the emphasis is on “Knowing Oneself”, helping students recognise personal strengths, interests, and values. At S.2, the focus moves to “Knowing the World of Work”, introducing workplace expectations, essential employability skills, and emerging industry trends. At S.3, students participate in “Finding Your Colours of Life” to support subject selection, connecting academic choices to talent profiles and long-term aspirations. In S.4 and S.5, the curriculum deepens to include Career Mapping, where students explore multiple pathways—academic and vocational—while building portfolios that document experiences, competencies, and goals. At S.6, students receive targeted guidance on applications and transitions, including JUPAS workshops, mock interviews, and briefings on local and non-local study options, thereby strengthening readiness for post-secondary progression.

To broaden exposure and nurture authentic workplace dispositions, the School offers practical learning experiences, including the Job Shadow Programme, workplace visits, and thematic career workshops. A Career Exploration Day, co-organised with the KCOBA Junior Chapter, offered S.5 and S.6 students first-hand insights from alumni currently enrolled in universities, who shared discipline-specific experiences, programme expectations, and strategies for aligning interests with realistic goals. In addition, a Career Exploration Tour to Huizhou was arranged for all S.4 students, expanding their understanding of the evolving economic landscape beyond first-tier Greater Bay Area (GBA) cities and highlighting opportunities in emerging hubs such as Huizhou.

Students from S.3 to S.6 also benefited from participation in a suite of external programmes, including the “Shenzhen Biomedical Career Exploration Tour for Students” (「醫者在「深」」深圳生物醫療考察團) funded by the Greater Bay Area Homeland Youth Community Foundation and organised by the Dreamworks Foundation; the “Greater Bay Area Internship Programme 2025 for DSE Graduates” (文憑試畢業生大灣區實習計劃 2025) by the Hong Kong Arts and Culture Development Centre; the “Teen Talk – Greater Bay Area Study Tour 2025” (灣區「法」展創明 Teen) by The Law Society of Hong Kong; and the “Career Exploration Tour to Foshan” (職夢 My 飛「佛」計劃) co-organised by The Scout Association of Hong Kong – The Friends of Scouting and Junior Chamber International City Lady. Collectively, these experiences strategically prepared students to identify, evaluate, and seize new opportunities in the GBA.

To strengthen financial literacy and decision-making for transition years, the School continued the Extended Learning lesson on Life Planning and Financial Literacy for the two non-M1 & M2 S.5 classes. Using a blend of videos, worksheets, class activities, board games, talks, and industry visits, the programme addressed Self-interest Exploration and Development, Self-reflection and Goal Setting, Multiple Pathways and Related Costs, Life Skills and Self-management: Financial Literacy, and Career Exploration and the World of Work (including GBA opportunities). This targeted provision helped students consolidate planning directions and apply prudent money-management habits to support their aspirations.

Recognising the pivotal influence of families in adolescents’ decisions, the Committee organised Careers Info Day for S.4–S.6 students and parents, attracting nearly 200 participants. The event provided up-to-date information on pathways, industries, admissions requirements, and scholarship opportunities, enabling families to engage in data-informed discussion and planning. In close collaboration with the Counselling Team, Form Teachers, and school social workers, the Committee also coordinated the Mock Release of HKDSE Results to strengthen students’ psychological preparedness and ensure immediate, compassionate advice and referral where needed. Comprehensive on-site support—covering academic options, emotional regulation, and contingency planning—ensured that students and parents received timely and appropriate guidance.

Looking ahead, the Life Planning Education and Career Guidance Committee remains committed to continuous enhancement of curriculum coherence, partnership with alumni and community organisations, and the expansion of authentic learning opportunities. Through sustained, whole-school collaboration, the School will continue to empower students to make informed, reflective, and responsible choices in pursuit of purposeful futures.

The School extends its heartfelt appreciation to the King's College Education Foundation Ltd., the King's College Old Boys' Association (KCOBA), and the King's College Parents Teachers Association (KCPTA) for their steadfast partnership and unwavering commitment to the growth and well-being of our students. Their collaboration has played a vital role in advancing the School's mission of nurturing the whole person through diversified and student-centred programmes. In addition to their generous provision of scholarships and awards that recognise academic excellence and non-academic achievements, these organisations have continued to enrich student learning by supporting a range of developmental, cultural, and leadership initiatives.

Among the many highlights of the year, the High Table Dinner organised by KCOBA remains a distinguished occasion that exemplifies the spirit of the King's College community. The event not only provides students with the rare opportunity to engage directly with eminent alumni, but also fosters meaningful exchanges of ideas on life goals and career aspirations. Through such dialogue, our students are inspired to reflect upon their ambitions and emulate the virtues of those who have preceded them, strengthening the bond between generations of Kingsians.

The KCOBA Junior Chapter has likewise demonstrated remarkable dedication in supporting senior students by hosting a series of mentorship and university sharing sessions for S.5 and S.6 classes. The genuine commitment of our young alumni to give back to their alma mater is a testament to the strong sense of belonging and gratitude that defines our school community.

Our deepest thanks are also extended to the KCPTA for its devoted efforts and enthusiastic participation throughout the academic year. Through close collaboration with the School, the Association has actively promoted parent-school communication and contributed significantly to student welfare and development. Its continuous engagement and volunteer service have been instrumental in enhancing our nurturing and inclusive campus culture.

As the School approaches its Centennial Celebration, we are deeply grateful for the concerted support of the King's College Education Foundation Ltd., KCOBA, KCPTA, and other stakeholders in preparing for this historic milestone. Their generous contributions, professional expertise, and commitment to the series of commemorative events — including exhibitions, concerts, publications, and alumni reunions — vividly reflect their shared devotion to the School's enduring values. Through their collective efforts, the legacy of King's College will continue to flourish, inspiring future generations to uphold our motto, “慎思篤行” , and to carry forward our proud traditions into the next century of excellence.

Building on this momentum, the School will continue to deepen collaboration with parents, alumni, and the wider community to sustain a caring, dynamic, and future-oriented learning environment. With the concerted dedication of all stakeholders, King's College stands poised to advance in unity, preparing students to meet new challenges with confidence, integrity, and purpose, and inspiring future generations to carry forward our enduring values and proud traditions.

2024-2025 school year

Objectives/Plan	Evaluation
Objectives: 1. To cater for learners' diversity 2. To share the overall teaching and non-teaching workload to give space for teachers' professional development, curriculum development, and teaching 3. To provide support and assistance to teachers in preparing teaching and learning materials and Form-teacher Period materials (Moral, Civic & National Education, Life Planning Education & Careers Guidance, and Counselling) and organising ECA and OLE activities 4. To take up some of the administrative and other non-teaching duties of teachers 5. To provide IT support in e-Learning, Campus TV, and school activities and assist in organising Learning Circle activities among 18 government secondary schools. Plan: (a) Appointment of two full-time GM Grade temporary teachers for teaching Chinese Language (b) Appointment of 8 Teaching Assistants (ENG, CHIN, MATH, OLE/IT, SEN(2), IT(2))	• The recruitment of temporary teachers has notably strengthened our educational capabilities, particularly enhancing our Chinese department's capacity to meet the diverse needs of Non-Chinese Speaking (NCS) students. By delivering a customized curriculum through focused pull-out sessions, these teachers significantly improved students' learning efficiency and proficiency in Chinese. Additionally, their support in organising cultural enrichment activities greatly increased student engagement and appreciation of Chinese culture. These targeted measures contributed substantially to the high-level achievement of senior students in public examinations. • Teaching assistants in the English, Chinese, and Mathematics departments have substantially enhanced subject-specific support, effectively managing administrative and non-teaching tasks to alleviate workloads for full-time teachers. This has enabled teachers to focus more intensively on curriculum design and instruction. Specifically, the English Teaching Assistant contributed valuable editorial expertise and engaging content for the school magazine. The Chinese Teaching Assistant played a dual role, coordinating cultural lessons for NCS students and actively supporting the Moral & Civic and National Education Activity Committees. Moreover, both the Chinese and Mathematics Teaching Assistants provided focused guidance to SEN students, facilitating their mastery of complex concepts and improving overall learning outcomes. • The Teaching Assistant (OLE/IT) has significantly enriched student learning experiences by providing extensive support to the OLE Committee, Campus TV Committee, and Careers and Life Planning Education Committee. He was instrumental in managing live broadcasts, producing the engaging programme King's Morning, and creating impactful video content for online events and promotional activities. Additionally, his dedicated efforts in broadcasting flag-raising ceremonies have greatly enhanced school-wide participation in national education activities. His contributions have effectively broadened and enriched both the educational and extracurricular environment of the school. • The two Teaching Assistants (IT) each made distinct and meaningful contributions to school development. One played a vital role in advancing STEAM education by supporting a range of learning activities organised by the STEAM Committee. He also assisted the Discipline Committee with daily operations and student behavioural support, and actively

Duties include assisting teachers in: - preparation of teaching and learning materials; - providing administrative support to subject departments; - providing learning support for weaker students, SEN students and NCS students; - supervising and conducting extended learning activities or OLE activities; - lesson substitution; - examination invigilation (public and internal), etc. (c) Appointment of a School Administrative Executive and General Clerk Duties include: - assisting the operation of SMC - handling matters of procurement/tendering - supervision of GCs & TAs - secretarial duties - assisting in exam matters - assisting in WebSAMS-related matters - assisting in S.1 admission and other major school functions - assisting the liaison with school stakeholders & outside organisations - assisting in the arrangement of school programmes - assisting with the 100th anniversary celebration, (d) Appointment of an Information Technology Resources Officer (ITRO) and a Computer Technician (CT) for supporting e-Learning	promoted traditional Chinese culture through his work with the Lion Dance Team. The other significantly aided the organisation of cross-school collaborative activities within the Learning Circle of 18 government secondary schools, enhancing professional exchange and strengthening inter-school partnerships. Together, their multifaceted efforts greatly enriched both the academic and developmental landscape of the school. - The two Special Education Needs Teaching Assistants (SEN TAs) played a key role in supporting students with diverse learning needs. Their responsibilities included assisting with procurement, coordinating activities and training programmes, and facilitating Individual Education Plan (IEP) intensive training tailored to students with SEN. They worked closely with a range of professional practitioners—such as the school-based Educational Psychologist, specialists from the Student Mental Health Support Scheme (SMHSS), Speech Therapists, and Occupational Therapists—to ensure targeted and specialised support. In addition to addressing academic needs, the SEN TAs also contributed to the emotional well-being and personal development of SEN students. Notably, they provided essential support for the smooth operation of the 2025 HKDSE Special Examination Centre, ensuring appropriate accommodations for candidates with special needs. - Teaching Assistants (TAs) play an integral role in supporting school operations and enhancing the overall quality of education. By taking on classroom substitution duties, they enable teachers to participate in professional development activities without increasing the workload of their colleagues. TAs also serve as invigilators during both internal and public examinations, allowing teachers to concentrate on marking and refining assessment strategies. They provide essential support for special examination arrangements for students with special needs and assist with procurement tasks, including sourcing quotations for services and supplies. Furthermore, TAs supervise students during off-campus activities and contribute to data processing tasks related to S.1 admissions. Their active involvement in the planning and execution of Other Learning Experiences (OLE) activities significantly fosters students' all-around development and engagement beyond the classroom. - The School Administrative Executive (SAE) has significantly enhanced the school's efficiency by coordinating administrative tasks and reducing teachers' workloads. She provided key secretarial support to the School Improvement Team, heads of departments, staff meetings, and the School Management Committee (SMC). She also managed procurement for essential items like exercise books and uniforms, ensuring transparency through quotation sourcing. Her work has been highly appreciated by leaders of major committees, including Exams, S.1 Admissions, WebSAMS, Student Learning Profiles, Scholarships, and the Speech and Music Festival. The general clerk also offered valuable support to office staff and teachers, especially in preparing for the School's 100th Anniversary Celebration. • The recruitment of an Information Technology Resources Officer and a Computer Technician significantly strengthened IT support across the school. Their contributions enhanced e-learning and online teaching while also ensuring the smooth operation of school events, activities, and examinations through timely technical assistance. Their support has been vital in maintaining a stable and effective digital learning environment.

						Recommendation We look forward to organising similar events that continue to bridge the gap between classroom learning and real-world applications, ensuring our students receive meaningful educational experiences.
2.	Purchase of A.I. Learning Tools S.4 & S.5: A.I. Writing & Speaking Tools Sayo (Speaking A.I.) ✧ An app-based platform allowing students to practise HKDSE-styled group discussion, individual presentation and SBA assessments. Penso (Writing A.I.) ✧ A web-based platform providing students useful advice on improving their daily writing pieces and compositions. The platform can offer students a detailed analysis on their strengths and weaknesses as well as concrete suggestions for corrections. An enhanced writing piece can be generated for the purpose of motivating students' self-directed learning and enhancing their self-improvement skills.	April – August 2025 S.4 & S.5 students	• Survey • Teachers' observation • Student' performance in daily writing pieces and speaking practices	$30,000	$25,952	AI Speaking Practice Tool (Sayo) Strengths 1. The AI speaking tool serves as a valuable resource for introverted students who may lack confidence in verbal communication. The non-threatening environment allows them to practise and improve at their own pace. 2. The tool can adapt to various speaking scenarios with HKDSE past papers included, allowing students to practise different language functions and situations. Weaknesses 1. One significant limitation is the tool's difficulty in accurately capturing student's input in noisy environments. This can lead to frustration and hinder the effectiveness of their practice sessions. 2. While the tool provides basic feedback, it may not adequately address subtleties in pronunciation, intonation, or conversational nuances that are important for effective speaking. Recommendation For S.6 students, the tool provides an additional chance for speaking practices during their study leave, which can be crucial for them to prepare for public examination and oral assessments.

	Items	Time and Target	Evaluation Method	Estimated Expenses ($)	Actual Expense ($)	Evaluation
						AI Writing Tool Strengths 1. The writing tool provides students with prompt feedback on their writing, allowing them to quickly identify areas for improvement. This immediacy fosters a more engaging learning experience. 2. Students reported that the tool offers specific strengths and weaknesses in their writing. This targeted feedback is crucial for effective learning and helps students understand the minor sides of writing. 3. The AI tool assists students in refining their word choices, enhancing their awareness of audience and tone. This is particularly beneficial for developing persuasive and engaging writing. 4. By aligning feedback with teachers' instructional points, the tool creates a bridge between classroom learning and practical application. This helps students apply what they learn in class to their writing assignments. 5. The tool allows teachers to gain insights into common writing problems among students, saving time on individual queries and enabling them to focus on broader instructional strategies. Weaknesses 1. While the tool provides valuable feedback, it may struggle with nuanced writing contexts or complex arguments, potentially leading to oversights in more advanced writing. 2. Students may become overly reliant on the tool, hindering the development of their independent writing skills.

	Items	Time and Target	Evaluation Method	Estimated Expenses ($)	Actual Expense ($)	Evaluation
						Recommendation 1. Recent improvements in the scoring algorithm have enhanced its alignment with teachers' scores during evaluations, increasing the tool's reliability and usefulness for both students and teachers. Both teachers and students are positive about another year of service. 2. Explore another platform which provides similar service, making it possible to source the better tool after evaluation.

推廣自主語文學習（普通話）一筆過津貼
2024—2025 學年報告

整體目標

1. 普通話教育，除了訓練學生聆聽、說話、閱讀和寫作能力外，也強調培養學生自主學習。
2. 語文學習不應局限於課堂，學生應通過多樣化方式學習。培養自主學習能力使學生能主動參與，根據自己需求規劃策略與進度，反思並調整學習方法，以持續提升語言能力。
3. 普通話一筆過津貼為學校提供資源，推動普通話與其他學科教學結合，讓學生在多元情境中運用普通話，提升語文能力與應用水平。此計劃豐富了學習環境，促進普通話水平提升，並鞏固香港教育的國際化與多元化優勢，為學生長遠發展奠定基礎。

本校於 2024-2025 學年已舉辦下列活動：

舉辦活動 / 課程	實施情況	反思及跟進	支出
英普雙語周活動 ● 英普雙語周： 4 個攤位遊戲、 Live Band 表演 ● 英普雙語周：兩文 三語國情問答比賽	➤ 安排中一級及中二級學生參與普通話和英文科的攤位遊戲，同學均踴躍參與，即場換小禮物；再即場用英語或普通話與校長副校長老師談天，儲齊印花換大獎，激發學生主動運用兩種語言。 ➤ 普通話攤位主題為中國廿四節氣，是學生較少接觸的文化主題內容。 ➤ Live band 以英語和普通話流行曲輪流演唱，讓學生浸淫在兩種語言當中。 ➤ 透過趣味語文常識基本法和憲法比賽活動培養班級的團隊精神，幫助學生在競賽累積語文、基本法和憲法知識，練習普通話和英文的過程中提升，達成自主學習的目標。	➤ 老師觀察，學生反應熱烈；個別學生向校長表達希望下年續辦的願望。 ➤ 中一學生覺得 live band 氣氛很好，表示喜歡此活動。但校方認為質素一般，因歌手不太專業，服務供應商亦沒有通知學校歌手臨時調動，而替代表現不太專業。 ➤ 問答比賽學生反應非常激烈，現場的學術氣氛十分濃厚，激發了學生對語文的運用、各科知識於日常生活中的貫穿和建構起了重要作用。更促進學生領悟到「知不足而奮進，望遠山而前行」的道理。 ➤ 建議來年續辦活動。	$30,096

試後活動 ● 國學大師講座（中四及中五級） ● 中三級普通話與科學科跨學科中國文化體驗活動（中國建築——樺卯）	國學大師講座 中四級及中五級講座（兩場講座） 主題：岳陽樓記(中四)，儒家之孝道(中五) 時間：1 小時 講者：單周堯教授	➤ 單周堯教授重返母校開講，分別為中四及中五的學弟就「岳陽樓記之儒家憂天下」和「陳情表之儒家孝道」兩方面展開學術性分享。 ➤ 講座上，單教授親自回應學弟疑惑，展現其嚴謹卓越的治學態度；同時勸勉學弟，薪火相傳，其樂融融。 ➤ 通過單教授的分享，使中華文化能更有力地在校內推廣；既能增強老師及學生對中華文化相關領域的認識，豐富文化內涵，又能有效地加深老師及學生的中華民族意識，提升其國民身份認同度。	$17,600
	體驗活動 涉及中國古代建築的理論和智慧，同時與中三科學科所學的力學理論比較，讓學生將知識融會貫通，不論在中國文化知識、西方科學理論和中國建築美學中打下堅實的基礎，加深學生的民族認同感和自豪感。	➤ 透過專業老師的講解，以及搭建樺卯的體驗活動，旨在加深學生對普通話的認識，認識中國傳統建築的特徵及加強美學的追求，兼從科學角度理解力學，再探討建築、自然與人之間的關係，幫助學生深入了解中國建築的獨特性和文化價值。 ➤ 能達到目標，學生反應積極，能讓學生建設更廣濶的知識基礎。	$19,500

第三部分：成效檢討

1. 考察活動預期目標：

透過大灣區職場考察活動，讓高中學生透過親身觀察和體驗，加深認識大灣區不同行業的最新發展，包括了解大灣區各行各業的人才需求，香港企業在大灣區的發展情況，以及兩地企業之間的協作。讓學生及早裝備自己，抓緊事業發展的新機遇。

這次大灣區職涯探索之旅順利完成，為學生帶來了一次富有啟發性的經歷。此次旅程成功深化學生對惠州等非一線城市的認知，突破過往僅聚焦廣深港的局限。通過當天的參觀加上學校自行安排的出行前及後續活動，有效幫助學生梳理大灣區「9+2」城市群的協同發展策略，讓學生從國家政策層面分析區域競合關係。憑藉對自身優勢的認知，學生可以嘗試選擇合適的大灣區城市作進一步了解，為未來升學、就業或創業規劃作準備，最大化個人發展潛力與區域資源的契合度。

3. 考察活動可以改善或繼續推展的地方：

透過這次活動，學生獲得了寶貴的經驗與知識，不僅拓展了視野，更提升了自我認知，同時為未來的升學與職涯發展確立明確目標。我們將持續規劃大灣區職涯相關活動，分享最新職場趨勢，並強化性格測驗與職涯目標的連結。透過引導學生制定短期與長期計劃，系統性地規劃未來發展方向，包括把握內地升學機會、參與暑期交流及實習計劃，以及建立專業人脈網絡，協助學生在就業市場中建立競爭優勢，逐步實現個人理想與生涯發展目標。

姊妹學校交流報告書
(2024/25 學年)

學校名稱： 英皇書院

姊妹學校名稱： 山東淄博第一中學 / 北京匯文中學

締結日期： 5/7/2012, 12/2004

第一部分：交流活動詳情

項目編號	交流項目名稱及內容	預期目標	監察／評估	反思及跟進
1.	山東淄博文化及學習交流團 交流團將探訪淄博第一中學，以齊魯(儒家)文化為主題與該校老師進行文化交流、進課室觀課及一起上課、出外參觀等。	一、老師層面：通過交流，認識山東和香港生活習俗及文化，對兩地的教育發展、該校的課程規劃及學生的學習生活等有更深入的了解，也建立起兩校師生的友誼。 二、學生層面：透過交流活動，擴闊學生視野，讓學生親身體驗和感受北京的自然、人文、美藝、歷史、城市發展和當代國情，加強對國家的認同感和歸屬感。 三、學校層面：吸收經驗，於將來安排其他主題的交流活動，協助學校達至持續發展。	● 本校與淄博第一中學締結為姊妹學校至今十三年。本學年，兩校恢復了親訪活動。於4月28日至5月2日，吳惠琮老師及顏家麒老師帶領二十位中四及中五學生前往淄博第一中學進行交流學習。 ● 五天的行程中，師生首先探訪山東淄博第一中學，不但參觀了姊妹學校的校史館及校園設施，還進入課室觀課、與該校學生交流，也一起上版畫課、中文課、書法課及體育課。過程中，由該校課室設備，教學模式，以至學生的課堂參與，都帶給我們不少教與學的反思及啟發。我們還參加了「春天送你一首詩大型詩歌朗誦會」，與當地學生一起感受詩歌的文字之美，同時誦唱詩歌深受當地學生歡迎，令現場氣氛熱烈，留下美好回憶。我們也遊覽了充滿歷史韻味的顏神古鎮，感受博山區琉璃製作工藝的精湛。最後前往曲阜參觀了孔府、孔廟和孔林，以及濟南革命烈士陵園。	● 參考以往經驗，主題式交流能令師生獲益良多，因此可繼續舉辦。 ● 行程加入「紅色資源」，有助愛國主義教育。

Report on the Use of the Promotion of Reading Grant 2024/25 School Year

Part 1: Evaluation of the Effectiveness

1. Evaluation of the objective: (e.g. evaluating if the objective of “creating a reading culture” is achieved and any change is required based on student attitude, loan of books, engagement in reading activities)
 - Broadening students’ horizons and strengthening language abilities through extensive reading – By promoting extensive reading beyond the classroom, including access to online resources and informational texts in everyday contexts, students develop positive reading habits across diverse topics and genres. According to an internal reading survey, 50.5% of respondents reported reading 1-5 items per month, while 30.9% read 6-10 items per month, encompassing both printed books and online materials. This practice not only broadens students’ knowledge but also reinforces their language foundation, as English teachers have noted the constructive impact of reading newspapers.
 - Cultivate a reading culture to promote students’ interest in reading – Reading periods emphasise sharing reflections to foster interest in reading. Pair-reading sessions between S.1 students and senior librarians have proven effective, with both groups benefiting from the 30-minute meetings. Students are organized into small groups to explore various writing strategies through different genres of books, such as adventure and mystery. The survey results indicate that 37.8% of students read for 15-30 minutes daily, while 27.6% read for up to 15 minutes per day. This demonstrates that the majority of students have developed a reading habit from diverse sources.
 - Engagement in reading activities – Interactive reading activities, including S.1 Visual Arts and Reading Workshop, S.1 & S.2 Reading Strategy Workshops, as well as S.1 Newspaper Skim Reading Competition, were held throughout the year. The “mini-prize presentation ceremony” involved participation from the Principal and Assistant Principals, celebrating students who submitted thoughtful and engaging short reading responses. This initiative serves to motivate junior form students to become avid readers.
2. Evaluation of strategies: (e.g., evaluating the effectiveness of strategies employed to create a reading culture based on the change in the number of books borrowed by students, the scope of the reading activities)
 - After rounds of evaluation and interviews, the subscription to the new version of Young Post was proven to be meaningful and constructive for students’ English learning, with follow-up activities during English lessons.
 - In hopes of promoting reading, students were encouraged to read both knowledge-based information texts and leisure online articles. Both Chinese and English departments collaborated with other subject departments for reading across the curriculum at junior secondary levels (through information texts, news, or magazine articles, etc.) to consolidate students’ knowledge and skills acquired across KLAs. The measure is incorporated into the 3-year developmental cycle of the school plan for 2024 –2027.
 - Since it was reported from the reading habit survey that students enjoyed the book quiz contest because of the competitive nature, part of the Grant will again be allocated for the Newspaper Skim Reading Competition.
 - To further promote Reading across Curriculum, students are asked to prepare theme-based interactive cross-KLA presentations during the reading periods.
 - Part of the fund is allocated for printing a themed publication featuring students’ exemplary reading-related assignments, in celebration of the school’s centennial anniversary.
